MANHATTANVILLE COLLEGE PURCHASE, NEW YORK

In the lower left are the black mountains of our earth and the M of ourselves, men.
Above us is set the star, the high goal of our quest.
To the right shines the sun, the light enlightening every man who comes into the world.
In this light we read the book of learning, asking the meaning of our world and of ourselves.
And so the cycle moves on without end.
The seal, like reality, has no edges; its heights and depths, its width and breadth, lie open to the infinite.

The Seal was designed by John Ross, of the Manhattanville Art Department, and introduced in May, 1967.

"Then here we are. We are the present Manhattanville and I have a few words that I would like to address to the students of the new Manhattanville.
. . . I would suggest to you these things.
I would say 'Be happy!' . . . you have this world and these goods and enjoy them . . .
However you arrived upon this scene, at the moment you're part of Manhattanville you can reject it or accept it.
If you reject it totally,
well I suppose you should leave;
but if you are with it then be with it!
. . . Be for Manhattanville, be for yourself,
be for your fellow students, and be happy!"

John O'Hara, Convocation 1975

In appreciation for the spirit of his vision this book is dedicated to Dr. John O'Hara

This is somewhat like a journey but it is a traveling
into things,
not around them.
We begin
like mariners
stepping onto oceans
of blue far struggling darkly
with night
on our shoulders.
Like the mariner
we take up
our instruments
to help
in that discovery
of what we have about us.
Guided
but never controlled by the enveloping elements
of our universe.
We seek the ability to experience what lies in and beyond
these forms.
A motion carries us
like a paperchase,
constantly moving
to discover the mystery,
the magic of that which surrounds us.

At first it is the stupendous which intrigues us—huge facts of seething life. And then we focus.

The minute details about our feet begin to emerge from their huge block of blended darkness to form recurring symbols of our daily life.

We begin to see though much remains unclear
The forms about us are as yet only liquid silhouettes, daring figures in wavering light we focus again for a smaller spectrum and a deeper probe into the true life of things

How much we find is determined by each individual who accepts the challenge what we seek to make of our discoveries is again, ours.

Our task, above all then, is to see, even if it be but one shaft of waning light amid the cool darkness of this greening world.

"Manhattanville is very much more than an extension of its President, and we must all join together to sort out our values, order our priorities,
analyze our present situation, reconnect with our great tradition and plan and work for a meaningful future.
This is a large order,
but I am convinced
that it can be done.
I hope that together
we can develop a sense that we are moving into a future that will evolve organically from both our splendid tradition and our valid and valuable present.
We are a College
of problems and of promise.
Let us work
to solve the problems and fulfill the promise together!"

MANHATTANVILLE

And in the end
this seeing will converge
into one complete and eloquent understanding of that which surrounds us.
The eye of the instrument opens widely blessed by its fervent wish to complete
this deepest of journeys.
Light and shadow
are at last defined.
We are graceful sculptures
in finest detail.
In its searching adjustment
to this detail
the telescope
has shown us all.
The small places
of sanctuary and solitude . . .

The shafts
of lanquid light
entering like spears,
the seething life
in a man's eyes have all taken on the newest of colors
since last we embarked upon this fine earth.

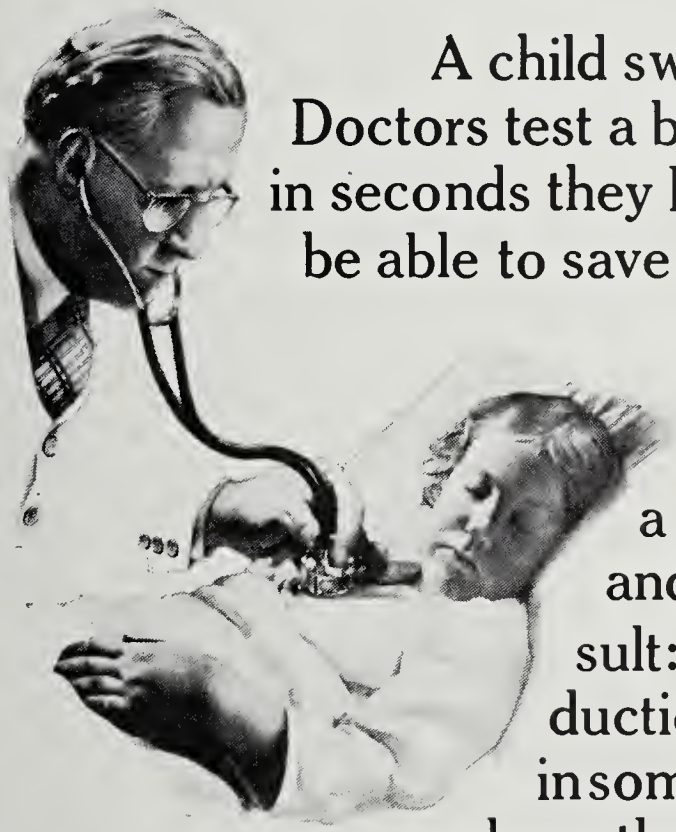
MEASURE FOR MEASURE

TRIFARI

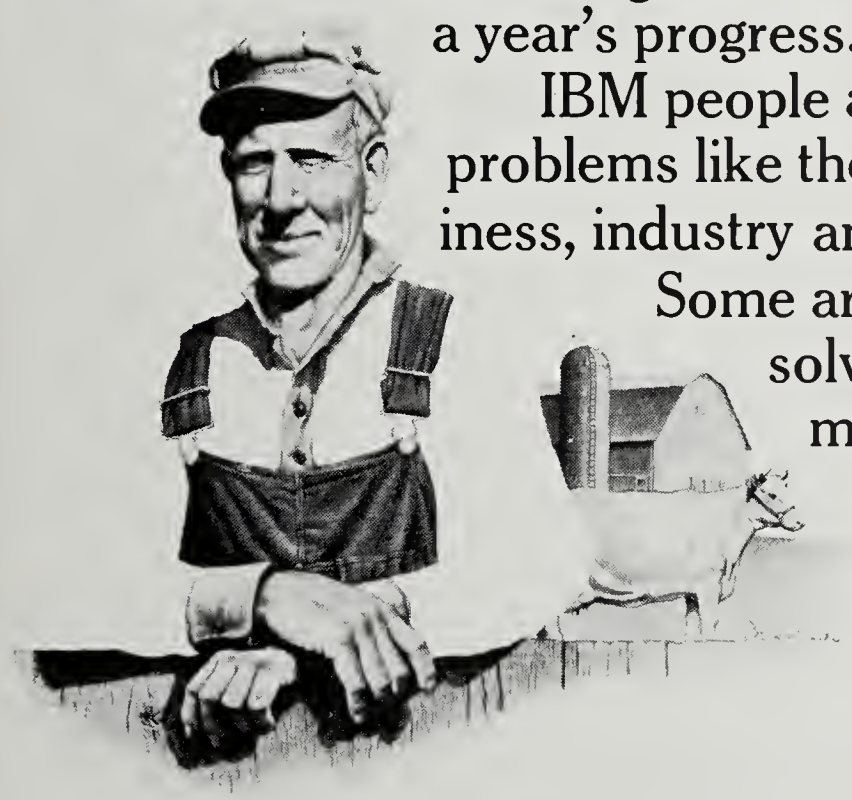
HELPING PEOPLE FIND THE ANSWERS.



A child swallows poison. But which poison? Doctors test a blood sample, using a computer, and in seconds they have the answer. An antidote that may be able to save the child is given.

Farmers want to increase the milk yield of their herds. They turn to a university's computer center for a scientific herd management and feeding program. The result: Their cows' annual production rises dramatically, in some cases to 25% above the national average.

A teacher must upgrade the language skills of her elementary school pupils. Her method? Individualized instruction using typewriters and dictation equipment. In three months, some of the children in her fifth grade class make nearly a year's progress.



IBM people and IBM products are at work on problems like these each day—and problems in business, industry and government, as well.

Some are solved with computers. Some are solved with typewriters or other equipment. Whatever the tool, the job is the same:

Helping people find the answers.

. . . but the blankness of the cover was linked to the color gray. My first impression of Manhattanville was exactly that; blank and gray. It was not until I looked inside that I discovered the many subtle rich and colorful aspects of this school. And so that is what the cover is saying. It forces the viewer not to linger over surface appearances, but to look inside to see: the book, the college, each other, and perhaps yourself.
